SIGN PEACE PROTOCOL

Five Central American States Agree to Conference.

TO BE HELD IN WASHINGTON

Convention Early in November Expected to Put an End to Wars and Provide Arbitration of Future Disputes with the United States and Mexico as the Referees.

Ministers from the five Central Amerian republics represented in Washington providing for a peace conference to settle all disputes among their respective tion of the governments of the United States and Mexico to meet and arrange convention, which it is hoped will effectually put a stop to the wars which occur among these republics from tim to time, and enable these republics t settle any disputes which may arise in the future, by arbitration.

Washington is named as the place for holding the meeting, and the date is to be some time between November 1 and 15. It was impossible to fix upon a specific date for the opening of the conference for the reason that a month or more will be required for some of the that steamship connections between New Orleans and Honduras and Guatemals are somewhat irregular. It was also con sidered advisable to allow sufficient time for the different governments to consider matters which will come before the conference, and to instruct their delegates in the matter of treating them.

The Rev. Thomas Chalmers Easton, D. D., for ome years paster of the Calvary Presbyterian Church, San Francisco, is in the city, the guest of his sons, on Haight street. For fourteen years he has been the popular paster of the Eastern Pres-ylerian Church, Washington, D. C., where he enjoys a large acquaintance among the nation's law-makers.

Dr. Easton was a close friend of the late T. De Witt Talmage, whose Brooklyn pulpit he once filled for an extended period. During his stay in this city, Dr. Easton has been benored by an invitation from Cornell University to serve as one of the university preachers during the next winter. Among the preachers for the year are such men as Lyman Abbott, Dr. Hillis, John Mott, Bishop Potter, and Cuthbert Hall.

During his brief visit to California the Washington preacher has declined a number of invitations to speak, appearing but once, in the Preshysterian Church, San Rafael. He will leave for Washington early next week. Many of his old friends hereabouts would be glad if he could be persuaded to take up his residence again in this State. He retains his old-time vigor as a man and fire as a preacher, and has succeeded in making a distinct place for himself in the higher life of Washington.

Rev. Dr. Easton has just returned from California and resumed his work is pastor of the Eastern Presbyterian
